EMERGENCY SERVICES FOUNDATION APPLICATION PACK.

Thank you for your interest in applying for an Emergency Services Foundation scholarship.

The Foundation has awarded over 125 scholarships since 1988 However, as numbers are limited, it is important that you present your proposal in the best possible manner. The following information is provided to assist you in preparing a successful application.

Please read thoroughly to ensure you have a good understanding of what is expected of you.

1. The purpose of the Scheme is to enable fellowships and grants to be made to members of Victorian emergency services and emergency health agencies from the pre-hospital arena that provide assistance to the Victorian community to assist them to undertake advanced studies in Australia or overseas. This might be by participating in formal courses of education or training or by attachment for study or observation with other agencies or educational or training institutions to advance their educational and professional standards. In addition, members can develop their individual vocational skills, knowledge and understanding in order to improve the range, quality and efficiency of the emergency services for the benefit of the community. However, applications that are deemed to be primarily focussed on the attainment of academic qualifications are unlikely to be successful. Joint applications will only be considered in exceptional circumstances. The benefits to the community should be emphasised in your application.

2. It is imperative that agencies endorse recommended applicants for scholarships and explain in their supporting documentation how they would perceive the benefits flowing to the agencies and / or the community if their nominee is successful. This endorsement should include acknowledgement that the sponsoring agency is concerned about the subject, that it is relevant and timely, and that the agency supports the proposed methodology.

Furthermore, agencies endorsing applications will be required to respond formally to the report when presented with comments on the scholarship winner's recommendations and an indication of whether or not the recommendations will be adopted. If these are to be adopted, methodology for their implementation should be indicated and, if not, reasons should be given for their rejection.

This response to the Foundation and to the author of the scholarship report should be in writing and include timetables for implementation if appropriate. Seek support from your own organisation as well as past scholarship recipients for your project. 3. The amounts of grants and fellowships will vary according to the proposal and reflect the merit / content of the proposed project or trial program.

Directors will also decide any conditions the recipient of the fellowship or grant is to fulfil, including the duration of the award. Ideally, the duration of travel should not exceed four weeks. It is important to have realistic expectations on travel arrangements and time frames.

4. Scholarship proposals could focus on a range of areas containing a primary interest in pre-hospital emergency health or emergency services including but not limited to pre-hospital emergency patient treatment, emergency prevention, preparedness, response, recovery and risk management elements of their agency's roles, lessening the hazards experienced by emergency services workers and pre-hospital health care. Although relevance across a range of agencies is an advantage, it is not mandatory. Applicants should avoid submissions that duplicate research undertaken by previous scholarship winners. Make sure you know exactly what you want to do and what problem you are trying to solve.

A list of topics covered by past winners is attached to this pack. You can also refer to our website, www.esf.com.au

5. Applications for the award of a grant or fellowship are assessed by the Directors of the Foundation and their decision is final. Applicants will be judged against the following criteria:

| Value to the Community and other agencies                  | 20 points       |
|--|-----------------|
| Value to the applicant's agency.                           | 10 points       |
| Value to the applicant.                                    | 3 points        |
| Quality of presentation (both written and verbal).         | 10 points (5/5) |
| Capacity of the applicant to transfer and/or implement the | 15 points       |
| outcome of the scholarship.                                |                 |
| Degree of innovation.                                      | 5 points        |
| Any other pertinent factors.                               | 7 points        |
| TOTAL:   | 70 points       |

Applicants are encouraged to address these criteria in their submissions.

6. Grants and fellowships are intended to cover expenses of travel (economy class) and all subsistence and incidental costs incurred. As a guide, allowance standards applicable to Public Service Staff should be used to calculate expenses unless candidates have information to contradict this. Due allowance for exchange rates must be made. Costing should include appropriate travel insurance or access to corporate card insurance. The grant makes no provision for costs associated with dependants. Costing should be as accurate as possible.

- 7. Applications should include:
  - Proposed time of travel (approximate dates).
  - Approximate but detailed costs in total and how the figure has been derived.
  - Extent of study and benefits.
  - Application Forms. (Pages 5 to 8 of this document).

8. Successful candidates will be provided with an advance by the Directors. They will be required to account for and substantiate their expenditure.

9. Candidacy is open to serving members and volunteers associated with recognised emergency service organisations agencies providing emergency and pre-hospital health services to the Victorian community. An application form is attached to this document.

10. Successful candidates will be required to sign an agreement to submit a comprehensive report to the Directors and to the Head of Agency on completion of the study. They may also be requested to make presentations to courses on their research activity. The scholarship winner(s) will not be able to undertake travel during duty time and will be required to take leave to accommodate the scholarship.

11. Successful candidates should be aware that their report, on completion, will be lodged with their agency libraries and distributed to other agencies within Australia. To this end the report should include an executive summary of not more than 250 words that can become the synopsis for inclusion in various emergency management agency newsletters.

The full report is also to be provided electronically and will be lodged on appropriate websites, e.g. OESC and various other host agencies including ESF.

12. Unsuccessful applicants are welcome to apply for future scholarships However, persons who have previously received a scholarship under this scheme are precluded from applying.

13. The application form should be completed by candidates and submitted to their agency for formal recommendation and prioritising (exact date will be provided by individual agency).

14. Applications to be submitted to Emergency Services Foundation by the 26th
March 2018. All applicants will be notified in writing of the outcome before the 15th
May 2018 (See time line process below)

After Application Submission...

Upon receipt of your application, your agency will, after reviewing all applications it has received from its members, decide if it will endorse it so that it can proceed to the next stage (i.e – review by the ESF Scholarship Selection Committee.)

If your agency does not endorse your application, you should consult the person responsible within your organisation.

If your agency does endorse your application but the ESF Scholarship Selection Committee does not accept it, you will be notified and invited to seek advice from the ESF Alumni on improving your chances of success for the following year.

If the ESF Scholarship Selection Committee accepts your application, you will be notified and invited to attend an interview where you will be asked to make a presentation of your proposed area of study. It is from this presentation / interview that that the Scholarship Committee will decide if you will be awarded a scholarship.

Note: Make sure you have made the appropriate contacts and arrangements with them to fulfil your itinerary.

If after the interview the ESF decide not to award you a scholarship, you will be notified and advised as to how to improve your application and then invited to resubmit your application the following year.

Successful applicants will then be sent an Awardees' Pack. This pack will contain information to help you on your way to preparing for your study tour and what is expected of you when you return.

Should you need advice on any aspect of preparing an application and the processes involved, contact Jenny Davis on 0406 003 765 who will put you in touch with an ESF Alumni member within your agency. Alumni members have all previously been awarded a scholarship and will be happy to mentor and guide you through the process.
